Republican Analysis of Tariff Measure Planned for Use Against It

HELPS DEMOCRATS CORRECT ERRORS

Senator Simmons Turns a Trick on Republican Opponents

Washington, July 9.—Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, turned a trick on the Republican leaders yesterday when he got his hands on a lengthy analysis of the Democratic tariff bill prepared under the direction of Senator Smoot and pointed out what the Republicans claim is a serious defect in the measure.

As the Democrats gave notice that they printed their bill, Simmons directed the finance sub-committee to go over their schedules yesterday and pored over the Smoot analysis to check up with the sub-committee to-day. He said that the analysis pointed out some errors that could be corrected.

All functions of the city government will be grouped in nine divisions and each councilman will be a special commissioner for one of the divisions.

DENIES KILLING HIS SWEETHEART

He Was the Last Person To Be Seen With Her—Body Was Found in Water.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 9.—Charged with the brutal murder of his pretty sweetheart, Alice Crispwell, aged 18, Herbert Johns, aged 28, yesterday stoutly denied his guilt in connection with the tragic death of Miss Crispwell in Harvey's lake on the night of the Fourth of July.

Johns and the girl had been lovers for a long time. On July 4 he left this city to visit her at Harvey's lake, where she was employed. He was last seen with the girl that night, but returned to this city early. When the girl did not return to her home it was thought she was staying with her employers.

When a letter reached the Crispwell home from Herbert Johns, addressed to Alice, the girl's father became alarmed and started a search. Cottagers pointed out where they had heard a girl frantically scream for help on the night of the Fourth. Later her body was found floating in the water.

Johns was immediately suspected and arrested.

To reporters yesterday he said he left the girl about a mile from her home and started back, as he was not feeling well. Johns points out that if he knew his sweetheart was dead he would have written to her last Sunday. The prisoner admits passing Mr. and Mrs. St. Nicholson on the lake road after he had left Alice on the night of the Fourth.

The doctor's examination revealed no cause for the tragedy.

COHALAN INQUIRY OPENS.

New York Legislature Takes Up Case of Accused Supreme Court Justice.

Albany, N. Y., July 9.—The legislative inquiry into the charges preferred against Supreme Court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan of New York by John A. Connelly, a contractor, began yesterday before the Senate and judiciary committees. The charges, which were presented by the grievance committee of the New York Bar association, embrace the assertions of Connelly that in 1904 Cohalan agreed with Connelly to secure city contracts in return for 55 per cent of the profits, that he agreed in 1909, as part of the settlement of a suit brought by Connelly to recover the money paid on the 55 per cent basis, that a false complaint be substituted in the action to the effect that the money paid on the 55 per cent basis, that a false complaint be substituted in the action to the effect that the money in question had been loaned; that he agreed with Connelly in 1911 to procure a political position for Connelly as consideration for a note for $4,000; that he agreed with Connelly at the time the note was made to have Connelly make a false affidavit to the effect that there were no offsets or defenses to the note and that he gave out for publication a false and misleading statement to the Connelly charges. All the alleged offenses antedate Cohalan's appointment to the supreme bench.

HE DISCUSSES THE PROBLEM

Enterprise Goes With a Rush to the Cities

Seattle, Wash., July 9.—Children, immigrants and the relation of commercial bodies to social welfare were discussed in three sectional meetings of the national conference of charities and correction yesterday. In the report of his committee on the relations of commercial organizations to social welfare, Roger N. Baldwin of St. Louis, submitted that "the most striking factor in the business world of to-day is the increasing interest of the public in business. Private business is regarded as a proper field for public inquiry. Business is really no longer private. This development is reciprocated by the interest of organized business in the public. Never before has business broadened its horizon to the extent of recognizing in practically every public issue its effect on business. A new attitude of business itself is being formulated and expressed through the daily activities of business organizations in such public movements as housing, city planning, industrial legislation, vocational guidance, recreation and charities endorsement. Commercial organizations in America have got into the movement for intelligent city planning, arranging for a city's better forms of government and cleaner political organization, because they recognize that a community to be great commercially must be clean politically."

E. M. Williams of Cleveland, whose subject was "A Chamber of Commerce Militant," said: "You may talk of free sites, bonuses, cheap power and all else as determining factors in attracting new capital and new industry. As great as, capital and new industry, is the condition of the labor market. The American laborer wants to know that the money he expends for taxes is honestly expended. He wants pure water, milk and food. He wants his dwelling to have the atmosphere of a home. He is influenced by the absence of conditions that make for a high death rate. He wants his children to receive a better education than was his lot."

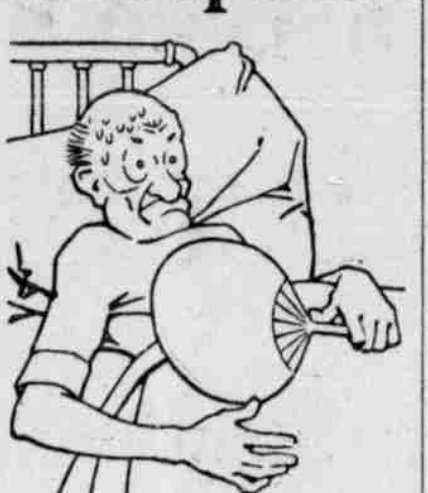

John R. Howard of Boston told of the rural problem. "The rural population," he said, "is without leadership. The most energetic having moved on to the cities, the residue presents a sort of dead level from which enterprise cannot be expected." The speakers at the immigration round table included Charles Perry Taylor, secretary of the Washington state federal court of labor, and John A. Goodwell, international secretary of the industrial department of the Y. M. C. A.

JURY OF WOMEN ACQUITS WOMAN

One of the Women Jurors Was Late, Too, For First Felony Case Tried.

By Her Sex.

San Francisco, July 9.—Acquitted by the first woman jury to appear in a felony case in California, the woman defendant in the case is congratulating herself to-day that she demanded a trial before 12 of her own sex.

Judge Dunn's courtroom was crowded. After two hours' deliberation the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The judge appeared at 11 a. m. and cast his eye over the jury. He looked vexed when he noted the absence of one juror. He signed a few papers, and then was about to postpone the case when Mrs. Martin Regensburger, a prominent clubwoman, came in, flushed and breathless, and was escorted to her seat by the bailiff, under the reproachful eyes of her fellow jurors.

Eleven of the women in the box were married and had a mature look. The twelfth was single and much younger than her associates. All were smartly dressed.

Mrs. Nanette Robinson, the complaining witness, was put on the stand. She is young and pretty. Mrs. Robinson told how she had received a letter from an unknown person, who, she said, was subsequently found to be Mrs. Williams, the defendant, in which she was directed to pay $150 to a messenger who would appear at a stated time.

Then the accused testified that she wrote the letter as a joke and had no intention of blackmailing Mrs. Robinson. Her lawyer put in some evidence showing that she bore a good character. The prosecution could not prove intent to defraud, so the case went to the jury.

MOVE TO DISBAR STILWELL.

Bar Association of New York Appeals to the Supreme Court.

New York, July 9.—The bar association yesterday asked the appellate division of the supreme court to disbar former State Senator Stephen J. Stilwell, convicted of having solicited a bribe from George H. Kendall, president of the New York Bank Note company, and sentenced to serve from two to four years in Sing Sing prison. Stilwell is now in the Tombs, his sentence having been stayed pending a possible confession involving grafting of other legislators at Albany.

Washington, July 9.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels when asked yesterday about the "near accident" to the Mayflower, said that a newspaper dispatch from Norfolk was the first intimation he had had of President Wilson's having been endangered by 12-inch shells on his cruise. He added that he had not issued any order for the suspension of gun testing at the naval proving grounds.

NO LAW TO GET LAMAR

This Is the Decision by the Department of Justice

ATTY-GENERAL MADE EXAMINATION

Lamar Extends His Evidence—"The Only Wall Street Villain"

Washington, July 9.—An end to the Wall street features of the lobby investigation was in sight when the Senate committee resumed its hearing yesterday. David Lamar had asked permission to make a final statement explaining Edward Lauterbach's charges Monday, that Lamar had assured him Senator Stone and Speaker Clark were anxious for a "peaceful understanding" with Morgan and steel corporation interests. There is no federal law under which David Lamar could be prosecuted for impersonating congressmen over the telephone, according to the view of officials of the department of justice after an examination of the statutes. It developed yesterday that Attorney General McReynolds directed an informal examination of the case to determine whether any existing law covered the situation revealed in the testimony of Lamar before the lobby committee, in which he admitted the impersonation of public men. It was the belief of the government lawyers that the statute forbidding the impersonations of government officers did not reach the case, because that law embraced only cases where intent to defraud could be shown.

A half dozen men prominently identified with wool manufacturing industries in the United States and several connected with campaigns for a change in or a retention of the sugar tariff, were on hand again yesterday to be examined as to their lobbying activities. The wool tariff witnesses included William Whitman, Thomas O. Marvin, Winthrop L. Marvin, all of Boston and S. W. McClure of Salt Lake City.

Under a sharp fire of questions, Lamar insisted that his only object was to bring about "just such a situation as this investigation."

"I am the one villain in Wall street," said Lamar bitterly. "All the rest are actuated by the highest motives and possess the highest ideals."

Lamar declared the whole thing was "a major Wall street operation traveling on parallel lines," and insisted he was "after" Ledyard, Cravath, Exerts, Lovett and the Morgan steel trust, Union Pacific and other interests and wanted to force them to an open attack. "It was a favorite method of mine for producing an explosion when I wanted one," he added.

PRESIDENT WILL REMAIN OVER SUNDAY

Plays Golf on Nine-Hole Course at Hanover and Goes Motoring.

Cornish, N. H., July 9.—President Wilson is so much improved in health and satisfied with the progress of affairs at Washington that he has decided to prolong his stay at the summer capital and will remain here over Sunday. He has found ideal golf links at Hanover and on invitation of the Dartmouth professors spent yesterday morning on the links there after a long motor ride. He expects to frequent them often during his stay. He passed the afternoon reading official papers. The president played a fair game but the links were much more difficult than the Woodstock course where he was Monday. Dr. C. A. Grayson again accompanied the president. There were no caddies about when they arrived and a secret service man and one of the chauffeurs volunteered for the task.

As the president played his second round a little boy trailed him carrying a big American flag. More co-eds came up and shook hands with the president just as he reached the green. He held with a neat put. "Fine, fine," exclaimed one of the girls. "Oh, I don't always do as well as that," said the president modestly, but he smiled appreciatively upon his feminine gallery.

CONFIRMS TALE OF MASSACRE.

French Priest Reports 700 Men Are Killed.

Saloniki, July 9.—Father Michel, superior of the French Catholic mission at Kilkish, confirms the report of the massacre by the Bulgarians in that district. In one instance they burned 700 men by imprisoning them in a mosque under which they exploded bombs, setting the building afire.

The Bulgarians assembled the victims' wives and daughters around the mosque to witness the spectacle. In other places women were burned.

STRIKE IS AVERTED

Boston Elevated Officials and Carmen Agree on Arbitration

ALL DIFFERENCES WILL BE SETTLED

James J. Storrow, James H. Vahey and James L. Richards the Arbitrators

Boston, July 9.—All danger of a street railway men's strike in Boston was removed late yesterday, when the representatives of the Boston Elevated Railway company and those of the carmen's union agreed upon a method of arbitration by which all differences will be settled.

Early in the afternoon the Chamber of Commerce committee declared that some progress had been made toward a settlement and that there would be no strike. The plan of action is not announced. The agreement was reached shortly before 6 o'clock in the afternoon, which was the time set in the ultimatum issued by the carmen's union before a strike would be ordered.

James J. Storrow was chosen as third arbitrator to settle the differences and will sit to-morrow with James H. Vahey, representative of the men, and James L. Richards, representing the elevated road, to take up arbitration matters.

DRAPER STRIKERS BACK, QUIT I. W. W.

All Who Are Given Jobs Renounce Allegiance to That Body.

Milford, July 9.—About 200 former employees of the Draper company applied at the office of the works yesterday for work at their old jobs. Of the 225 who applied Monday 140 secured employment, according to a statement issued by the Draper company.

The men are all put through an examination and each of those who are re-employed is required to tear up his I. W. W. card and forswear all allegiance to that body. This stipulation is insisted upon by the Draper company.

Rumors which gained credence Monday night that the I. W. W. intended to ship men here to make trouble for the men who had gone back have resulted in activity on the part of Chief Jeremiah O'Neil of the police, who has his officers on the lookout for any suspicious looking strangers. The police employed by the Draper company are to be retained another week.

Quinlan Taken to State Prison.

Paterson, N. J., July 9.—Patrick Quinlan was taken to state prison at Trenton yesterday to serve not less than two years nor more than seven for inciting a riot among the striking mill workers. The court yesterday granted a writ of error, but Quinlan was unable to raise the bail demanded. He is the first of the Industrial Workers of the World leaders to be convicted of inciting riot. Indictments against William D. Haywood and others are pending.

Tentative plans were announced yesterday by a citizens' committee for the appointment of a committee of 5 to go to Washington and place the strike situation before Congress. It was proposed at first that a thousand citizens make the trip in a body, but this idea was abandoned in view of the expense.

LYNCH IS APPOINTED.

Gov. Sulzer Names Typo Head to Be Labor Commissioner.

Albany, July 9.—After being unsuccessful in three attempts to have John Mitchell of Mount Vernon, former president of the United Mine Workers of America made state labor commissioner, Governor Sulzer last night sent to the Senate for confirmation the appointment of James M. Lynch, of Syracuse, N. Y., for the position.

Mr. Lynch is president of the International Typographical Union of America.

TO PAY ALL DEPOSITORS.

Assistant Secretary Williams Reports on Pittsburg Failure.

Washington, July 9.—That depositors in the First-Second National Bank of Pittsburg, closed by order of the comptroller of the currency, will probably be paid in full, or nearly in full, was the opinion expressed yesterday by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury John S. Williams on his return from Pittsburg. He also hinted at a possible investigation by the department of justice.

Williams declared that between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 had been wiped out by bad loans, but that there were probably sufficient assets to pay the depositors, making the loss fall on the stockholders.

That there was possible evidence of "gross mismanagement and lack of moral foresight" in the bank's affairs was asserted by Mr. Williams. He stated that he had been authorized to offer the Pittsburg clearing house $5,000,000 bonds from the treasury to provide against possible contingencies in connection with the bank's failure, but that the clearing house had declined the tender, stating they were able to cope with the situation.

"The examination made by the department shows favoritism in the bank's loans," Mr. Williams said, "and in general an extremely bad condition. It showed that the bank was apparently financing the private projects of those in the institution."

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

Stretter, the former Princeton athlete, who has been with the Highlanders for a year, has been sold by Manager Chance to the Venice, Cal. club. Stretter was signed by the Highlanders on the completion of his college career last June. Stretter is a catcher and has filled in some at first base. With the sale of Stretter, the Highlanders' catching staff is left in rather hard straits. Sweeney is out of the game with injuries and on Monday, Gossett, second string man, split one of his fingers so that he will not be able to play for some time. His untimely injury leaves the catching department in a deplorable condition, as Smith, a recruit, is practically the only available man.

Walsh, the diminutive shortstop of the St. Louis Browns, has been sold to the Indianapolis club. The fine work of John Lavan, who joined the Browns but a few weeks ago from the University of Michigan, resulted in the Browns placing Walsh on the market.

Pete Compton, the St. Louis Brown outfielder, is slated to be released. There are several clubs, it is said, after his services.

Matt McGrath, the Irish-American athlete of New York, on Sunday at Chicago, broke the world's record for the hammer throw, which he himself held. The throw will not stand as a world's record, however, as the distance was not measured with a steel tape. The distance was 188 feet, 7 inches.

Louis Disbrow, driving his Zimplex Zip, at Sioux City, Ia., hung up a new world's record for the 12-mile flat track on Sunday by covering the distance in 9 minutes, 20 4-5 seconds. His average speed was 77 1/2 miles an hour. He eclipsed the former record by more than a minute.

Otis Clymer, the newly acquired outfielder of the Boston Nationals, secured from Chicago, has been playing for the past seven years with a broken ankle encased in a bandage. Clymer has been playing ball for years, as his age of 34 would indicate. His career is checked, having played in several leagues.

A baseball team from the Philippine Islands, composed wholly of Filipinos, is touring the United States. This team follows in the wake of the Chinese university team of the Hawaiian Islands. The Filipino team is said to be playing excellent ball.

Old Doc Gessler, the former Boston and Washington American player, is still taking an active part in the American pastime. Gessler, since his release from the Senators, has been playing with the Kansas City team. In a recent game he made three of the team's five hits, one being a home run.

Connely, the new Boston outfielder, secured from Toronto, seems to be a promising youngster. He is hitting the ball hard and consistently, such that gives him a rating well at the head of the Boston hitters.
